

The government must introduce tax changes that give tax benefits to people who use bicycles. There should be some form of tax rebate for bicycles and bicycle equipment especially when being used for work. The cyclist would keep a log book of all their journeys and Km's travelled. Some form of government legislation would prevent cycle retailers from raising the price of the bikes unnecessarily because they knew the customer would get a tax rebate.

Regards,

Ruth Behn

SMARTi Project Officer